Q. 19	CASE STUDY For people with limb loss, prosthetic devices improve quality of life by providing movement and independence. Early prosthetics were uncomfortable to wear, but they may have helped people return to work and feel accepted in their daily lives. A prosthesis is a device designed to replace a missing part of the body or to make a part of the body work better and to help people regain mobility. Most prosthetic manufacturing companies use crude oils that are expensive and not environmentally friendly. The use of natural materials is a more efficient alternative in creating prosthetics today. Bio-based polymers are derived from bio mass and are said to be environment-friendly as compared to a petro-based one. PHA is considered a bio-based polymer because it is derived entirely from living microorganisms and is 100% biodegradable. In fact, it is the only bio-based polymer that can make such a claim; most if not all other marketed bioplastics are either not entirely made by living organisms, or are only partially biodegradable.  The infographic illustrates the biorefinery process for bio-based plastics. It starts with three types of feedstocks: agro-based (corn/sugar cane), ligno-cellulosic (non-food plants), and organic waste. These feedstocks enter a central biorefinery, which then produces a variety of plastic products including bottles, bags, and prosthetic components.  Apply design thinking to find creative ways to use these bio-based plastics to make the prosthetics environment-friendly.	4

Q. 20	Effective communication between patients and healthcare providers is crucial for the patient care and recovery. As per a survey, 70% of people have had unpleasant experiences while dealing with hospital staff during their lifetime. Poor communication and lack of empathy can make it even harder for a patient and their caregiver. Ideate and come out with an innovative solution of this problem which will enable better hospital-patient communication which is patient centric.	4
Q. 21	The story 'The Thirsty Crow' follows the chronological structure of storytelling. Using any other fable/story of your choice, modify it to a parallel structured story in 80-100 words of your own.	4
Q. 22	CASE STUDY According to the survey conducted by LocalCircles—a community social media platform, more than 40% of urban Indian parents admit that their children aged between 9 to 17 are addicted to videos, gaming and social media. (Source: https://www.bqprime.com/nation/a-survey-reveals-how-bad-is-internet-addiction-among-indian-children). This has led to limited physical activity, mental health issues and poor sleep quality. While parents are aware and worried about this issue, they are unable to curb or change the children's behavioral pattern towards a positive direction. The objective is to create a product which will not only reduce screen time for children but will make parent-child interaction as enriching and entertaining as possible. Create a prototype by applying design thinking to devise a product which facilitates fulfilling parent-child interaction without dependence on any gadget or screen time. The product could be most suitable for metropolitan cities of India, catering to families from diverse social, economic and cultural backgrounds.	4
